Let's face a fact: self-care is for everyone and there are a lot of alternatives from the famous and expensive products!

Self-care is pictured as luxurious, expensive and inaccessible. But the truth is that self-care is essential in our lives! All you need is the right attitude. Through a trial and error process, you will eventually find the right self-care routine that matches your concerns and preferences.

This serves as a reminder that caring for yourself first is okay and it's an essential practice for your good health.

We all want to be fabulously healthy and live a long and happy life. However, we may be unaware that each of us holds the solution to accomplishing these goals right within ourselves—self-care.

Today, be inspired, motivated, and reminded of the value of being nice to yourself in this challenging world as you embark on a new week in full bloom.

Happy International Friendship Day!

Let's give it up for all the different kinds of friends in our lives who support us on our journey. There's the friend you speak to all the time. The old friend you rarely speak to but who somehow knows just the right thing to say when you tell her about your troubles.

Tag your friend and let them know you are grateful for them being there for your highs and lows.

Hey moms! We want to remind you that you can savor life and the sweetness it comes with.

Going through motherhood as a diabetic can be bittersweet, prone to weakening of bones and fracture. A National Institute of Health (NIH) study suggests Diabetes is associated with calcium deterioration, due to impaired calcium absorption.

Have #Calsan give you that extra push to keep your bones healthy!

Salute to you and your fortitude in motherhood!

#YesYouCan #YouCanWithCalsan

Burnt out? Go ask yourself every now and then: Why are you here? Why did you start? 🙌

How's the diet so far? We know you'd get used to it!

According to EPIC-Oxford study on Cancer and Nutrition: limiting what to eat, often entails limits on other nutrient-boosting supplements. Dietary regimens like high protein, low sodium, or vegan may compromise your calcium intake.

Good thing #Calsan got your back! Safe to take alongside your preferred selection of food, to give you that extra calcium boost for well-cared health and body.

Resist the urge to pop your pimples!

Popping your pimples can lead to:

- ☑ Cause Infection
- ☑ Scarring
- ☑ Skin Darkening

visiblechanges[®]

Big pimple? We can relate to that, especially the satisfaction from popping it.

Newsflash: popping pimples isn't the solution! It's best to have patience and leave the pimple be. In fact, doing so can only lead to more problems listed on the card.

Why should you cleanse your face?

- Removes build up of dirt, oil, and other unwanted debris
- Maintains proper levels of hydration
- Decreases chances of a breakout

visiblechanges[®]

Facial cleansing is one of the key steps for maintaining healthy-looking skin and preventing breakouts!

Cleansing is basic hygiene and without it you can expect clogged pores which leads to serious acne. Your skin would appear dirty, oily, dry and aged.
